DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a) because they fail to show Figures 18D, 18E, and 18F as described in the specification. Any structural detail that is essential for a proper understanding of the disclosed invention should be shown in the drawing. MPEP § 608.02(d). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

2. The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

35 USC § 101

3. Pertaining to Claims 18-24, the Examiner interprets claim language to convey a practical application in the technological arts in light of the specification and preamble language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-12 and 18-36 are rejected under 35 USC 102(b) as being anticipated by Yahoo! (PTO-892, Item: V).

Yahoo! teaches all the limitations of Claims 1-12 and 18-36. For example, Yahoo! discloses Yahoo! launching three new European auction services for Italy, Spain, and Sweden. Yahoo! further discloses:

- Performing a search to locate an offering having a specified offering characteristic; specified by the user: users browsing; multiple categories; (please note examiner's interpretation: user's searching) (V: see at least page 2).
- Determining an availability of the offering in particular geographic region associated with the user: users can easily browse, buy, view or sell (please note examiner's interpretation: item available if place for sell or user can buy it); specific geographic regions (V: see at least pages 1 and 2).
- Displaying information in a particular geographic region: central site www.yahoo.com displays auctions for particular geographic regions (e.g. Italy, Sweden) (V: see at least pages 1 and 2).
- Listing currency, languages; shipping region: global commerce site supports regions around the globe (please note examiner's interpretation: product purchased destined for a particular region is a shipping region); lists in local currencies, multiple languages (please note examiner's interpretation: user who speaks Italian accesses Italian site for native language) (V: see at least page 2).
- Parsing URLs: from single site URL (auctions.yahoo.com), users access one or more sites with unique URLs (it.auctions.yahoo.com; se.auctions.yahoo.com) (V: see at least page 2). The reference inherently discloses the structure that permits the parsing to be performed. URLs are parsed to access network addresses within network domains.

- Generating a markup language document: web-based commerce site (please note examiner's interpretation: using one of several industry standard markup languages (e.g. HTML)) (V: see at least pages 1 and 2).
- Generating offering categories in a particular order: generates categories Arts & Entertainment, Toys & Games, Antiques & Collectibles, Electronics & Cameras (please note examiner's interpretation: displayed in a particular order) (V: see at least page 2).
- Means for determining and displaying: electronic commerce site connected to user over the Internet using the World Wide Web (www) (U: see pages 1-3). The reference inherently discloses network computer processing means providing generating means, determining means, and displaying means.

Pertaining to system Claims 25-36

Rejection of Claims 25-36 is based on the same rationale as noted above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yahoo! (PTO-892, Item: V), in view of Pollick (PTO-892, Item: VV).

Yahoo! teaches all the above as noted under the 102(b) rejection and teaches transacting auctions globally via the Yahoo! electronic commerce site, but does not disclose fixed price transactions. Pollick teaches Yahoo! auctions and further teaches Zshops, a fixed-price alternative to auctions being implemented by Amazon as a customer service (VV: see at least page 5). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time of the invention to modify the method of Yahoo! to implement fixed-pricing as a customer service as taught by Pollick, in order to provide an alternative to auction-based pricing, and thereby attract users desiring fixed-pricing as a customer service.

6. Claims 14-17 and 37-40 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wells Fargo (PTO-892, Item: U).

Wells Fargo teaches a multi-currency e-commerce storefront for commerce sites hosting one site or multiple sites (U: see at least page 2). Wells Fargo further teaches:

- Determining a listing currency of an offering that is presented for sale: price for each item is listed in the local currency rather than in U.S. dollars; displaying item purchase prices in native currency so that international customers no longer have to purchase a product in U.S. dollars (please note

- Converting the listing currency into a native currency: price for each item is listed in the local currency rather than in U.S. dollars; settlement with e-commerce site is in U.S. dollars based on the established exchange rate for that day (please note examiner's interpretation: listing is converted to local currency based on established exchange rate) (U: see at least page 2).
- Means for determining and displaying: The reference inherently discloses the structure that permits determining means, generating means, and displaying means; electronic commerce site connected to user over the Internet using the World Wide Web (V: see pages 1-3).
- Displaying the listing currency in conjunction with the native currency:

Wells Fargo teaches all the above as noted under the 103(a) rejection and teaches a) listing items for sale in native currency, b) applying an established exchange rate to perform conversions in US dollars to/from local currencies, and further teaches international customers no longer having to purchase a product in U.S. dollars (please note examiner's interpretation: once was listed in U.S. dollars), but does not disclose displaying the listing currency in conjunction with the native currency. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time of the invention to disclose displaying the listing currency in conjunction with the native currency, since it is well within the skill to ascertain that once the native currency is displayed, retaining the displaying of the listing currency is merely a matter of business choice.

Pertaining to system Claims 37-40

Rejection of Claims 37-40 is based on the same rationale as noted above.
